

Patrick Dengate

Patrick Dengate is a freelance artist who lives in Ferndale. His work includes paintings, woodcut prints, commercial graphic design, and antique photo restoration. He is also involved in municipal programs, politics, and environmental advocacy. He plays banjo & guitar in the musical trio "Trail Mix."

He and his wife Diane have two children who attend the University of Michigan.

Patrick and his brother taught themselves to sail while in high school. After his children learned to sail at a 4-H program on Lake Charlevoix, he helped them build their own small skiff in 2003. A membership in ASI was a Christmas gift in 2006, and he is now the Mainsheet editor. Besides taking advantage of the ASI Interlakes, he likes to sail his Hobie Cat 14 Turbo in southeast Michigan and on Lake Michigan.